Course No: 99215000

ISO 9001 : 2008

ISO 14001 :2004

OHSAS 18001 : 2007

Introduction

We all have come to understand that quality, safety and environment management systems are unavoidable elements in any organization. The most popular and accepted management system standards that come to our mind are ISO 9001:2008 for Quality Management Systems, ISO 14001:2004 for Environment Management Systems & OHSAS 18001:2007 Occupational Health And Safety Management System. It has become an obligation that an organization demonstrates effective implementations of these systems.

Approach

Improper approach towards implementation of these three systems can be a debacle. It could lead to poor quality, accidents / incidents, unfriendliness, unnecessary paper works, poor efficiency, confusions, duplication of work ... etc. If the organization applies a holistic rather than the traditional approach of peripheral arrangement for each standard – ISO 9001, ISO 14001 & OHSAS 18001 these situations can be avoided.

To start with the integration of these three management system, the organization need to consider the following elements:

- Holistic
- Clear
- Simple
- Cost effective
- Effective and efficient
